Did you know?

Liverpool's waterfront is a designated World Heritage Site. That puts it on a par with the Taj Mahal and the Great Wall of China!

Question time !

What kind of insect is Liverpool's most famous band named after?

☐ Spider ☐ Beetle ☐ Grasshopper

Answer: Beetle (band 'The Beatles')

Museum of Liverpool

Few cities can match Liverpool for its wealth of history. The Museum of Liverpool reflects the city's global significance through its unique geography, history and culture. Visitors can explore how the port, its people and their creative and sporting history have shaped the city. The museum opened on 19 July 2011 in a landmark building on the waterfront and has won several awards, including the Council of Europe Museum Prize for 2013. Its collections cover Social History, The Overhead Railway which closed 60 years ago and, of course, The Beatles. There really is something for all the family at this fascinating venue.

World Museum

The World Museum is one of Britain's greatest museums, with varied collections and displays focused on life sciences, earth sciences and human cultures from around the world. The ever-popular Dinosaurs and Ancient Egypt sections sit alongside a Planetarium and Space and Time attraction. Children will love looking at the fish in the aquarium, watching films and live performances in the theatre, taking a journey through space in the planetarium and examining creepy crawlies in the bug house.

Imagine That!

Described as 'Liverpool's fullest, funniest day out', Imagine That caters to babies and children up to age 12. Five sections offer morning or afternoon visits. The Science Area provides an interactive introduction to the world of science, while budding engineers can muck in at The Construction Area. A highlight of the Art Area is the paint the car section, where children can add their own designs to a real car! According to Imagine That, visitors to its Water Area should be advised that there's a good chance you'll get wet and an outside chance you'll get soaked! The Imagination Village contains shops and restaurants.
