Did you know?

The expression 'all roads lead to Rome' comes from the fact that Roman roads were built in a star shape around Rome during the Roman Empire. And that's why we use this expression to say that there are several ways of achieving the same goal!

Question time!

Which famous Roman emperor is also a character in the Asterix comic books?

Answer: Julius Caesar

Explora, Il Museo dei Bambini

Visit Explora, an interactive museum specially for children located near the Piazza del Popolo, where they can follow a fun trail to gain a better understanding of our world and how the human body, communications systems or even the environment work! The most spectacular attraction is a giant mouth for visitors to crawl into and explore the human body.
